'Excellence in Business' 2007 awarded to Keystone Consulting Engineers, Inc. by the Greater Lehigh Valley Chamber of Commerce

Press Release

Wescosville, PA – 7/23/07 - Keystone Consulting Engineers (KCE), one of the premier civil engineering firms in the Lehigh Valley, has won the Lehigh Valley Chamber of Commerce Small Business Council 2007 Excellence in Business Award.

Presented annually, this award recognizes companies that exemplify excellence in business, supported by their mission statement, chamber and community involvement, customer satisfaction and their demonstrated commitment to quality, leadership, marketing and training and development.

"KCE is honored to be recognized by the Chamber and the Small Business Council with such a sought-after and highly regarded award," says Bill Erdman, president and CEO of Keystone Consulting Engineers. "KCE really is a company for and about people who cooperate with each other and work closely with clients to exceed their expectations. It is because of their efforts that KCE succeeds. It is the KCE employees who won this award and who deserve the recognition."

KCE was founded as Waldraff Associates in 1972 by Frank G. Waldraff. Mr. Waldraff had always bristled at hierarchical "top-down" management styles and knew exactly what kind of firm he didn't want. Instead, he empowered his employees by treating them as equals. And, today, KCE's employees still embrace the same client service orientation and work ethic Mr. Waldraff brought to the office every day.

KCE delegates total authority for each client project to a specific KCE employee or team, providing a direct link between the client and the project manager and enabling KCE to better anticipate and satisfy client needs. With just under 100 employees, KCE serves nearly 250 clients, including 30 municipalities and authorities from the Poconos to Coopersburg and from Easton to Kutztown. KCE has offices in Wescosville, Bethlehem and Kresgeville.
